CHAPTER 4

FIELD DESCRIPTION OF THE WEDDING CEREMONY

Paragraphs are indented like this on the first line and double-spaced. Text, text and more text; text and more text; text, and then there might be an extended quote; as Brown says:

This is a direct quote of four lines or more. It is single-spaced and the whole quote is indented. The reference is at the end. text, text and more text; text, text and more

If you are continuing on with the same paragraph, you don't need to indent. Go back to double-spacing. Text, text and more text; text, text and more text.

Paragraphs are indented like this on the first line and double-spaced. text, text and more text; text, text and more text. Text, text and more text; text, text and more